PARTICIPATION ACTION GROUP

Background

After an independent Governance Review and a long period of consultation with the leaders of the sport of Shooting, there was overwhelming support for developing a Whole of Sport Participation Plan that could contribute to the promotion of the sport and assist clubs at a grass root level.

A National Come & Try Day has been one of the significant ideas to come from this planning and consultation, and as such became the primary focus of the Participation Plan's first year.

Why A National Come And Try?

Throughout the consultation process, one thing that became clear was that there was a longing to show the broader community just how great our sport is. If they had the opportunity to come and try it in a safe and welcoming environment, if they just gave it a go! They would gain a better understanding of us and the sport we love.

That's what the National Come & Try Day's main focus is; a national effort to change the way the public think, see and interact with our sport and the people involved with our sport.

The National Come & Try Day would also create a number of other benefits; shift the public perception, portray the sport of shooting nationally in the right manner, increase the promotion and positioning of our sport, create an opportunity for the sport to work together, expose more people to our great sport, potentially increase membership numbers, raise awareness about safe handling of firearms and overall increase in a positive manner the growth and sustainability of our sport.

The Next Step

In order to deliver a successful national Come And Try Day we are putting together an action group of like-minded people who are interested in being champions of this project and leading our sport through this exciting project. This Action Group would also help the sport of shooting ensure that the other outcomes in the Participation Plan around resources, club support, promotion, coaching and official development all progress.

Who Are We Looking For?

We're looking for inspiring and motivated people who want to help us grow the sport. We are looking for passionate individuals from all around Australia. Most importantly we want people who want to make a positive difference in our sport.
